BkM Teens

The BkM Teens program offers a space for youth to share dialogue on exhibit installations of the museum. Events hosted by the program typically integrate music, spoken word and other forms of unique expression in relation to the creative diaspora.

Cityarts engages youth with professional artists in the creation of public art, including murals and mosaics. Through this creative process, cityarts empowers, educates, and connects youth and children locally and around the world to become active participants in realizing their potential and transforming communities. To ground is to align your mind, body and soul. This can be accomplished in many ways depending on the preference of the individual's connection to their sense of self and environment. Although, a universally sound rule of grounding is breath-work. Our breath taps into every part of our being and connects us to our surroundings, providing confidence in the present. Before we continue, pause and take a breath. And not the typical implicit breath, but an intentional full belly breath, in and out. This is an opportunity to root into the now and clear your mind. Through the art of breath, spaces optimal for grounding can be integrated into designed environments to elevate experiences of visitor engagement.

Prior Integration

Arts & Connect

The Arts Connect program serves as a way to gather community to support the Earth through art. The Arts Connect program will have multiple craft sessions leading up to the Earth Within exhibit in respects to the Neuro-network build, art block mural, breath and body movement therapy as well as activities in the botanical garden. This arts program will have direct connection to local schools to engage with the Brooklyn youth. Other sessions will be held for more open groups to accommodate all who feel called to participate in the Earth Within vision.
